

Effect of Reduced Exposure to Vasopressors on 90-Day Mortality in Older Critically Ill Patients With Vasodilatory Hypotension

CONCLUSION

Permissive hypotension in patients with vasodilatory shock did not improve 90-day mortality compared to usual care, but it was not associated with increased adverse events